

“I do Weep for Thee, Saith God!”

I saw in a vision as I was in prayer, a room filled with people on their knees praying. There was someone calling names and my name was one of them that were called. As I rose up from prayer, I beheld I was clothed in a glowing silk white rob with a glittering blue silk cloth draped across my shoulders. An angel escorted me to a long corridor, which was filled with doors. I could see men on their knees in front of the alter ministering before the Lord God of Heaven. I was placed before an open door where along side of me was another individual praying. I got down on my knees to pray and low and behold, I began to go off in the spirit, speaking in tongues. I began to travail and weep with a strong, strong crying, I heard a voice say unto me, "Pray that God may speak to his people" I was so over come with grief, weeping and crying, I rolled over on my side and began to prophesy...

"OH MY PEOPLE, I do weep for thee", saith God. Yeah, I do weep for thee my people. I do travail in Zion and no man cares. Behold, have ye not read in my Word that I will rejoice over thee. Yes, I will rejoice over thee my people, saith god. Either I will rejoice over thee to build thee up or I will rejoice over thee to tare thee down, saith God.

Why will ye not obey My Spirit, saith God? Why have thou turned a death ear unto me? You say you do My will, but ye follow not my Spirit, saith God. Ye have all together become backwards. Ye follow your own spirit, saith God. Behold, thou must pray. Pray! Stand in the hedges and make up the gap. Know ye not that someone must pray? Pray that souls are saved, saith God. Yea, ye must pray, intercede for the wicked and the lost souls, God. I have no pleasure in that the wick dies in their sins. Yea, I do see Hell. I see the misery, the gnashing of the teeth do I hear, saith God.

Carry a burden, carry a burden for the lost and dying. For many has turned back. Many have turned back, and are snared, and will be broken. Many has forsaken the way wherein they rejoiced in My Spirit and in My anointing, saith God. Yea, they danced, they shouted, they praised Me, but now they have turned aside unto vain gangling. They have become covenant-breakers, and I do weep for them, because they went a-whoring after strange flesh and strange gods. Yea-even idols of lust and sexual pleasure, saith God.

Turn ye, turn ye My people at My reproof that ye may live and be blessed. Turn ye My people unto Me. Turn I say from the beggarly elements of this world that I might receive you and be a Father unto you, that you might be My sons and daughters, saith God.

What will ye, shall deal with thee with a rod, saith God, or with My love? Would ye that I bring judgement and wrath, saith the Almighty, or love? I will visit thee, I will visit the iniquity of My people, saith God.

Now my son, warn My people warn them in their sins. Warm them of their evil ways. Set thyself as a flint. Yea, stand between Me and My people. Intercede and travail for them. For many of My people have become wicked and back-sledged, and I will pour out My judgment and wrath upon them except someone stand in the hedge, except someone pray and make intercession for them, saith God.

Now gird up thou loins like a man and be strong. Fear not My son. For I the Lord Thy God am at thy right hand, and I am thy strength. Many will not hear thee, but thou must open thine mouth wide and prophecy to this nation and My people. I have put in thee a Spirit of prophecy and whatsoever thou say shall come to pass. Neither use not vain jangling nor foolish gesturing, for thou shall have whatsoever thou sayest, saith God.

Take this word and run... Run! Yea, tell My people of it. Surely, I shall fulfill all My Word. I shall bring it to pass. I will bring it to pass, saith God I shall bring it to pass.
